

U.S. DOL To Issue Final Rule and Exemptions on Fiduciary Standards

ERISA Practice Center Blog on April 6, 2016

Today, the U.S. Department of Labor will release its highly-anticipated Final Rule and Exemptions addressing when a person providing investment advice with respect to an employee benefit plan or individual retirement account is considered to be a “fiduciary” under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 and the Internal Revenue Code... Continue Reading

Related Professionals

- Russell L. Hirschhorn
Partner
- David A. Picon
Partner
- Robert M. Projansky
Partner
- Ira G. Bogner
Managing Partner