

Podcast: Private Credit — The New Player in Restructurings

Debtwire on October 7, 2019

Partners Peter Antoszyk, David Hillman and Vincent Indelicato join host Richard Goldman from Debtwire for a podcast discussion on the private credit market. The Proskauer team talks about key topics in the private credit market, such as how the relationships, documentation and other characteristics of the private credit market compare against the larger, syndicated institutional investor market – and the impact that those differences may have on the next restructuring cycle.
