David Tegeler is a partner in the Corporate Department and the Private Funds Group, and also head of the Boston office. He previously served as global co-head of the Private Funds Group for many years.

David concentrates his practice on representing asset managers in a broad range of matters, including private investment fund formation; governance, succession planning and other “upper tier” concerns; regulatory advice; and asset manager M&A. In addition, David has significant experience in buy and sell side secondary transactions, fund restructurings, direct secondary transactions and private investment fund finance. He also represents U.S. and non-U.S. institutional investors in their investments in all types of private investment funds.

David has over 30 years of experience in the private equity industry. He has represented numerous domestic and international private investment firms in their fund formation and operations, including buyout, growth equity, credit, venture capital, natural resource, special situation, secondary, and funds of funds, as well as geographic and sector specific funds.

David is frequently recognized as a leader in the private equity field and is consistently ranked by national and global publications, including Chambers USA, Chambers Global, The Legal 500, The Best Lawyers in America, amongst others.

David is a member of the firm's Diversity Task Force.
